Career Planning Status Summary

Your Career Planning can be summarized as follows:
The scores range from 1 to 5
1=Not Prepared  3=More Prepared  5=Very Prepared

- Self Assessment (3.17)
  Self-Assessment is important because it enables you to identify which occupations and major study areas are most compatible with your personal attributes. Your medium self assessment score indicates that you are moderately involved in examining your interests, values, personality, and skills. It is important that you stay actively involved in self assessment because it is the most important first step in career planning.

- Career Exploration (3.33)
  Career Exploration is important because it enables you to compare and evaluate occupations and major areas of study that appeal to you. Your medium score indicates that you are moderately involved in career exploration. It is important that you continue or increase your involvement in career exploration because it will help you narrow down your options and map out your career goals.

- Career Planning Satisfaction (3.83)
  Planning Satisfaction measures the extent to which you are satisfied with the results of your career planning activities and your ability to resolve problems that can interfere with your decision making. Your high score suggests you are not experiencing any problems with your career planning. If at any time you do encounter any problems, you should consider discussing them with your career advisor.

Work Interest Profile Summary

Your interests can be summarized as follows:

Your average score in each area is also shown below as a number ranging from 0 to 100 where:

0=Low  50=Moderate  100=High

Conventional  58.33
Investigative  54.17
Realistic  45.83
Social  33.33
Enterprising  20.83
Artistic  20.83

Your top 3 work interests in the order you selected are:

Conventional
"the organizers"
People in the conventional category often prefer orderly, systematic work. Work tasks often include keeping records, and organizing written and numerical materials according to a plan. They like to see things run efficiently and smoothly, which means they will pay attention to administrative details. They generally enjoy keeping accurate records, organizing, working with numbers, and using a computer.

Investigative
"the thinkers"
People in the investigative category often have a strong desire to understand cause and effect, and solve puzzles and problems. They often work in jobs that are scientific in nature. Their work often involves the analysis of data, using formulas, graphs and numbers. Investigative types typically prefer to work independently, and with minimum supervision. People in this category generally enjoy using computers, solving math problems, interpreting formulas, and thinking abstractly.

Realistic
"the doers"
People in the realistic category often prefer to work with objects and things. They are likely to enjoy creating things with their hands and using tools and machines. Some prefer large, powerful machines like tractors, while others prefer precision machinery such as X-ray or electronic equipment. People in this category generally enjoy being physically active, repairing equipment, rebuilding cars, fixing electrical things, solving mechanical problems, playing sports, working outdoors, and using their hands.
